

Technology review and trouble shooting

Most of our clients engage us because they have issues within their business, particularly their IT, technology systems and understanding. This can be anything from a website that is not performing, to an ERP that is out of date or one of many other permutations.

Honesty

We give an honest, no holds barred, resume of what we think and, more importantly, how we think it can be implemented / improved.

Straight Talking Technology

We do not baffle you with jargon, we advise on how you can implement our ideas and where it is not appropriate for you to implement it yourself, we will give you enough information to allow you to manage the task effectively.

Holistic

As well as looking at the obvious, we have the experience to look at the whole system.

Understanding and experience

Unlike our competitors we do not just talk about the obvious. We understand the technology behind the scenes and how the vast range of available technologies interact.

Money Savings

We have saved clients fortunes by identifying bad practice, poor suppliers and potential failure points.

Supplier problems

Are your suppliers giving you the advice you need or simply taking advantage of your ignorance?

Mentoring and hand holding

Many of the companies we work with have bright intelligent managers and directors who are excellent at what they do, but lack the skills to manage a technical relationship. We simply enable these managers and directors to make informed decisions.

Problem

Lack of in depth understanding
Baffled with Jargon
Wasting time and money
Buried in the mundane
Costs over-running

My Role
